BURDEN GOT THE DELEGATES.

Jury Investigation. LONG ISLAND CITY, L. I., Sept. 8.-It is probable that the attention of the Grand Jury, which meets on Sept. 17. will be called to the manner in which the Republican primaries in this city were conducted last week. The three were conducted last week. The three factions—the Sanford Republicans, the Williams faction, and the Burden faction—tried to capture the primaries. The Burden faction was successful, except in the First Ward. Burden, however, has a majority of the delegates. It is said he was able to carry the primaries because he promised the normination for Assembly to about a dozen different people, if they would support him.

The Williams faction, which is headed by William Williams, brother of Police Inspector Williams, of New York, say they will bring the matter before the Grand Jury, as the promising of the nomination for Assembly was a violation of the Election laws. Burden is a candidate for Sheriff, as is also Williams.

THOSE FIREMEN ARRAIGNED.

the Soft Coal Nuisance.

LONG ISLAND CITY, L. I., Sept. 8 .-The seven Long Island Railroad firemen who were arrested on complaint of the health authorities a few weeks ago on the charge of burning soft coal within the city limits in their engines, in violation of a city ordinance, were arraigned before Judge Ingram in the Police Court to-day. They were: Henry Spielman, Thomas Geraghty, Michael Redden, Daniel Levall, William White, Charles Marshall and George Easton.

By the advice of Lawyer William J. Keily, of the Long Island Railroad Company, who appeared for them, they waived examination, and will go before the Grand Jury.

General Manager E. R. Reynolds, of the Long Island Railroad, is now awaiting the action of the Grand Jury in the case, he having been tried and held. health authorities a few weeks ago on

PROHIBITIONISTS READY.

The Anti-Liquor Movement Ticket in Kings County.

The Prohibition party in Kings County has made its nominations, while the other two parties are fighting for harmony. The Prohibitionists are noted for doing matters quietly, and the preparation of the county ticket is evidence of this policy.

The nominations were made last Mon-day night, but nobody except those who attended the Convention knew anything about the matter until the ticket was officially announced this morning.

The Convention was called to order by S. D. Riddle, a prominent anti-liquor man.

FALL IN CORN CHECKED.

wheat Uneasy, Oats Quiet and Cotton Several Points Lower.

Corn was again excited this morning. The stampeds of longs continued in a small way for awhile, but was quickly checked and prices rallied to last night's closing, 587-8 for May at New York, and 36-14 at Chicago. While the actual sale of Russian feeding barley is denied, a cargo is offering at 47, duty naid, but the demand is unimportant, as it is very difficult to sell Western barley in small lots at 48c. delivered. Wheat was nervous, December selling at 61-38 here and at 51-4 at Chicago. Oats were quiet.

Cotton was weak and lower; trade started off active, with prices two to four points lower on more favorable reports from the South regarding the weather for growing and picking.

HOBOKEN, N. J., Sept. 8.—Although the town of Guttenburg, N. J., has only one school, there are two principals, whose authority, strange to say, does not clash. Principal Smith had held the position for several years, but when the old Board of Education appointed Prinold Board of Education appointed Prin-cipal Finch, just before going out of office, they neglected to discharge Smith, who claims to still hold his position. The two principals sit side by side every day and take turns in running the classes. The new Board of Education favors Smith, but doesn't know how to get rid of Finch, who threatens suit if he is dismissed. All Hudson County is interested in the affair, but no one can yet predict how it will come out.
